

To turn a good idea into a great one,
treat it like a lump of coal.

Scientists subject carbon to extreme heat and pressure to make it into high grade industrial diamonds.

Subject your ideas to no less
– your colleagues and collaborators

If they survive that fiery furnace, they'll be ready for the public.

